

Great beer brewed in San Jose!

Floodcraft Brewing Company is our first brewery in Northern California. What's behind the name "Floodcraft"? It's a homage to a defining moment in Whole Foods Market history.

In 1981, the worst flood in 70 years devastated the city of Austin, Texas. The original Whole Foods Market was caught in the floodwaters, and the store's inventory was destroyed. It took only 28 days to repair and reopen the store, thanks to the helping hands of customers, team members and neighbors who came together in the cleanup effort. That spirit of community is what inspired us to choose the Floodcraft name. It is our hope that Floodcraft Brewing Company will help bring our community together around artisan-brewed beer.
